

| BEST OF MIAMI |

The Ten Best Margaritas in Miami

NICOLE DANNA AND LAINE DOSS | FEBRUARY 18, 2022 | 9:00AM

TacoCraft's margarita lineup presents a rainbow of flavors. Photo courtesy of TacoCraft

When it comes to refreshing alcoholic beverages, few concoctions compete with the margarita.

Mojito and piña colada aside, the margarita is practically the unofficial drink of South Florida. It's also the only cocktail with its own hotel and lifestyle named after it (thanks, Jimmy Buffett).

Of course, Floridians don't need an excuse to relax and sip a margarita. Here, it's a year-round libation. And while every variation ultimately begins with good tequila, it's up to the bartender to add their own flair.

Below, listed in alphabetical order by purveyor, are the ten best establishments to order a margarita in Miami.

TacoCraft has many great margaritas. Photo courtesy of TacoCraft

TacoCraft Taqueria & Tequila Bar

5829 SW 73rd St., South Miami

305-668-5612

tacocraft.com

Life is short: Eat tacos and drink tequila. Well, at least that's what you can do at TacoCraft, which offers more than 150 tequilas and mezcals for your margarita. Mix and match them with a variety of flavors like prickly pear and strawberry basil to jalapeño cucumber. Visit Monday, and you can partake in the day-long special that features $5 margaritas.